

FAST Ultrasound

More Information: Blood Flow from a Pelvic Injury

Hemorrhage from a pelvic source in the supine patient will travel to the rectovesicular pouch (male patient) and the pouch of Douglas (female patient) with overflow fluid ascending up the paracolic gutters. The majority will go up the right side to Morison's pouch.